THE JERSEY ADVANTAGE

- Milkfat will make up 65-70% of Fonterra Milk Payments this season.
- Per ha, or per unit of feed, Jerseys produce 13% more milkfat than HF.
- With the value of milkfat higher than protein + milk volume penalty advantage means that Jersey milk will receive 20-25c more per kg MS than a HF herd in the 18/19 season.

YEAR ON YEAR REPLACEMENT RATE IS LOWER IN JERSEY COWS

	HF	Jersey
Death Rate	3.0%	3.0%
Destroyed on farms	1.0%	1.0%
Calving Damage	1.0%	0.2%
Collapsed Udder	1.0%	0.5%
Feet & Leg problems	2.0%	1.0%
Non Pregnancy Rate	14.0%	10.0%
Discretionary Production culling	2.0%	2.0%
Other	1.0%	1.0%
20% of MT's returning as preg CO's	-2.8%	-2.0%
REPLACEMENT RATE REQUIRED	22%	17%

- Jersey population is approx. 75% A2A2. HF approx. 45%.
- Jersey cows are well suited to 'once a day' milking systems.

The option of running two or more high BW young Jersey bulls with your yearlings and DNA sire verifying resulting heifer calves is a genetically efficient option. It is a fast way of increasing Jersey blood in your herd. Example – Herd BW 100 and mated to top AB bulls at 220 BW = progeny BW 160. The yearlings from that herd at 140 BW mated to 200 BW Jersey bulls = progeny BW 170.

2019 Thames Valley Genetic Leaders Bull Sale

40 Bulls – 25 Good Reasons to buy a Jersey Bull at this sale

1. The bulls have an average BW of 206
2. The bulls have been inspected and are of good conformation, well grown and are in good condition
3. The bulls come from herds with good health status and are all BVD tested and are bred from larger scale commercial herds.
4. Jerseys bulls will ensure ease of calving
5. Jersey service bulls are active and virile
6. Where more than one bull is run with your heifers, it is relatively easy and cost effective to DNA sample calves to have 100% parentage
7. Being able to keep calves from your 2yr old heifers (your best genetics) allows you to rear more replacement calves or reduce AB period and cost
8. Jerseys produce 8% more milksolids per hectare or per feed unit than HF cows.
9. Jerseys, despite producing less protein per cow than HF cows, produce 2% more protein per hectare or feed unit.
10. Jerseys produce 13% more milkfat per hectare or feed unit
11. Jerseys produce 15% less milk volume per hectare or feed unit
12. Under similar farming systems with the same liveweight per hectare, Jerseys produce similar amounts of meat per hectare or feed unit
13. Crossbred cattle have the advantage of some heterosis benefits above the mid point of the two parent breeds. In net returns, the crossbred mid point, plus heterosis impact, is still less than Jerseys on a per hectare or feed unit basis
14. Jersey calves historically have reputation of being difficult to rear. Over recent years Jerseys have become bigger and stronger, and modern techniques such as rotovirus vaccination and systemic colostrum tubing of calves at birth has made the task of rearing large mobs of Jersey calves easier. Beyond the first 12 months of age Jersey cattle are more “user friendly”
15. Jerseys cows have higher pregnancy rates
16. Jerseys have lower levels of anoestrus
17. Jerseys have less lameness
18. Jerseys have better mobility and move to the farm dairy more quickly
19. Jerseys have lower incidence of mastitis
20. Jersey udders hold up better because they do not carry the same milk volume
21. Jerseys create less pasture damage in wet conditions
22. Jerseys have better heat tolerance in summer
23. Jerseys have 1.5 less gestation days than HF
24. Jerseys are more suited to once-a-day milking
25. Jersey cows are easier and more pleasant to handle

Some outcross sires on the bottom line with Kauri, Cannon and Orion. Donna is one of the biggest cows in the herd. She has only three quarters and this has spoiled the balance of her udder and hence her UO score of 5. We are collecting semen for ourselves from the brother to this yearling bull.

Not the highest BW bull in our line, but nonetheless well bred. If you like your Jerseys big, despite being 5-6 weeks younger than some of our line of bulls, he is amongst the biggest. His dam is a big tall, high producing 8-8 cow. TGM Rochelle was a feature cow in the herd a few years ago and has established a good family to follow her.
